QUOTA
	Qualification	Host NOC	Cali 2021	Total
Men	43	4 (3 RM y 1 CM)	2	49
Women	43	4 (3 RW y 1 CW)	2	49
Total	86	8	4	98 athletes

MAXIMUM QUOTA PER NOC
Qualification
Men	5* (3 recurve + 2 compound)
Women	5* (3 recurve + 2 compound)
Total	10 athletes*

*Except for countries that have already qualified athletes who were gold medal winners at the Cali 2021 Junior Pan American Games. These countries may have an additional place for the qualified athlete.

Athlete eligibility

The athletes must have signed and submitted the Athlete Eligibility Condition Form. All participating athletes must be at least 14 years old.

Cali 2021 quotas

The following NOCs had gold medalists in the individual events and qualified directly at the Cali 2021 Junior Pan American Games for the Santiago 2023 Pan American Games:

QUALIFIED ATHLETES FOR SANTIAGO 2023
Event	Athlete	Quota
Recurve	Trenton Cowles - USA	1 – H
	Valentina Vazquez - MEX	1 – M
Compound	Sebastian Garcia – MEX	1 – H
	Dafne Quintero - MEX	1 – M
TOTAL	2 men 2 women	4 athletes

If the NOC that qualified at the Cali 2021 Junior Pan American Games does not participate in the Santiago 2023 Pan American Games, this place will be forfeited and cannot be transferred to another NOC or athlete.

Archers who earned places at the Junior Pan American Games may compete to earn team places for their countries in the other qualifiers, but not for an additional individual place for their countries.

The gold medal winners in the compound categories in Cali will participate in the individual competition in Santiago 2023. They can also join other archers from their countries to compete in the women's, men's and mixed team events.

The gold medal winners in the recurve categories in Cali will compete in Santiago under the following conditions:

- If they represent countries that did not earn team places for Santiago 2023, they can participate in the individual competition, even if their inclusion leads the country to have two archers in the category in question. The elimination round would begin with a 1/32 match.
- If they represent countries that have qualified a full team in that category, they will start the qualifying round and may be chosen for the team rounds of their gender or mixed teams. They will be able to continue in the Individual Olympic Round only if their countries choose them as one of the three archers who will compete individually for medals or places for the Olympic Games. In this case, the individual round would start at the 1/16 stage since only 32 athletes would advance.

Qualification system

The present Qualification System has been designed to ensure 8 recurve teams and 5 compound teams of each gender, as well as the participation of individual archers from as many countries as possible. For this reason, a country can qualify either a 3-archers team or just one archer. As provided for the Olympic Games, a country cannot participate with two archers in one category for Santiago, except if one of the archers qualified at the Pan American Junior Games in Cali.

As there are countries (Colombia, Venezuela, Panama and Guyana) whose geographical location allows them to compete at the South American Games and the Central American and Caribbean Games, their National Federations must inform World Archery Americas by July 31, 2022, in which of these two Games they want to be considered for Pan American Games qualifying positions. This information must be provided in writing and must be accompanied by a letter of approval of their respective National Olympic Committee.

As Canada and the United States do not compete in any of the Regional Games, they will be the only countries eligible to earn spots in the North American Qualifier.

The participants by category in the Pan American Games will be:

- Recurve Women: 33 (8 teams + 8 individual archers from 8 different countries + the gold medal winner of the Cali 2021 Pan American Junior Games)
- Recurve Men: 33 (8 teams + 8 individual archers from 8 different countries + the gold medal winner of the Cali 2021 Pan American Junior Games)
- Recurve Mixed Teams: As many teams as countries that qualified at least one man and one woman.
- Compound Women: 16 (5 two-member teams + 5 individual archers from 5 different countries + the gold medal winner of the Pan American Junior Games).
- Compound Men: 16 (5 two-member teams + 5 individual archers from 5 different countries + the gold medal winner of the Pan American Junior Games).
- Compound Mixed Team: As many teams as countries that qualified at least one man and one woman.

Places for Chile as host country:

- 3 for the men's recurve event
- 3 for the women's recurve event
- 1 for the men's compound event
- 1 for the women's compound event

Chile will be able to earn team quotas in the men's and women's compound team events only if the country is ranked among the top five finishers in the Pan American Championships.

Quotas to be allocated in each qualification event:

- Pan American Championship, Santiago de Chile, November 21st – 27th, 2022
 - Recurve Men: 18 spots
 - The top five teams of the team match play round (15). If Chile ranks in the top five, the sixth-ranked team will qualify.
 - The top three individual archers of a separate round in which the countries that won team spots will not be included. The country that qualified an archer in the South American Championships will not be included either.
 - If a country that won an individual spot at the South American Championships wins a team position in the Pan American Championships, the individual spot won in Asuncion will no longer be valid and will be reallocated in the individual round to qualify for the Pan American Games at the Pan American Championships. This means that 4 individual positions will be allocated.
 - Each country eligible to compete in the individual qualifier can enter up to three archers but can only earn one individual position.

 - Recurve Women: 18 spots
 - The top five teams in team match play round (15). If Chile ranks in the top five, the sixth-ranked team will qualify.
 - The top three individual archers of a separate round in which the countries that won team spots will not be included. The country that qualified an archer in the South American Championships will not be included either.
 - If the country that won the individual spot at the South American Championships wins a team position in the Pan American Championships, the individual spot won in Asuncion will no longer be valid and will be reallocated in the individual round to qualify for the Pan American Games at the Pan American Championships. This means that 4 individual positions will be allocated.
 - Each country eligible to compete in the individual qualifier can enter up to three archers but can only earn one individual position.

 - Compound Men: 11 spots
 - The top five two-member teams in match play round (10).
 - The top (1) individual archer in a separate round in which the countries that won team spots will not be included. The country that qualified an archer in the South American Championships will not be included either.

- If the country that won the individual spot at the South American Championships wins a team position at the Pan American Championships, the individual spot won in Asuncion will no longer be valid and will be reallocated in the individual round to qualify for the Games at the Pan American Championships. This means that 2 individual positions will be allocated.
 - Each country eligible to compete in the individual qualifier can enter up to three archers but can earn only one individual position.
 - Compound Women: 11 spots
 - The top five two-member teams in match play round (10).
 - The top (1) individual archer in a separate round in which the countries that won team spots will not be included. The country that qualified an archer in the South American Championships will not be included either.
 - If the country that won the individual spot at the South American Championships wins a team position at the Pan American Championships, the individual spot won in Asuncion will no longer be valid and will be reallocated in the individual round to qualify for the Games at the Pan American Championships. This means that 2 individual positions will be allocated.
 - Each country eligible to compete in the individual qualifier can enter up to three archers but can earn only one individual position.
- North American Qualifier – During the 2022 Pan American Championship
 - Recurve men (1 spot)
 - To the highest ranked individual archer of this geographical region from a country that did not earn a team or individual position for the Pan American Games in the Pan American Championships.
 - To qualify for North America, the archer must be ranked in the top 8 positions in the special individual qualifier for the Pan American Games at the Pan American Championships.
 - If the North American countries earn the possible spots in the team round or in the special individual qualifier round of this event, the North American spot will be allocated at the last qualifier of 2023 and will be made available to all countries of the continent.
 - Recurve women (1 spot)
 - To the highest ranked individual archer of this geographical region from a country that did not earn a team or individual position for the Games at the Pan American Championships.
 - To qualify for North America, the archer must be ranked in the top 8 positions in the special individual qualifier for the Pan American Games at the Pan American Championships.

- If the North American countries earn the possible spots in the team round or in the special individual qualifier round of this event, the North American spot will be allocated at the last qualifier of 2023 and will be made available to all countries of the continent.

As the North American region's number of countries is smaller compared to the number of South American and Central American and Caribbean countries, no separate positions will be allocated to North America for the men's and women's compound events.

- Central American and Caribbean Games, El Salvador, June 23rd – July 8th, 2023

- Recurve Men (1 spot)

- To the highest ranked individual archer from a country that did not earn a spot at the 2022 Pan American Championships. The archer must be ranked among the top 8 positions of the Individual Olympic Round at the Central American & Caribbean Games to be eligible for this spot.

- Compound women (1 spot)

- To the highest ranked individual archer from a country that did not earn a spot at the 2022 Pan American Championships. The archer must be ranked among the top 8 positions of the Individual Olympic Round at the Central American & Caribbean Games to be eligible for this spot.

- The last qualifier

- Recurve men (8 spots)

- 6 spots for the top two teams in a match play round involving only the countries that did not earn team spots at the Pan American Championships.
- 2 individual spots for the top ranked archers in a special match play round involving up to three archers from the countries that did not earn a team or individual spot at the previous qualifiers. The number of individual spots to be allocated can be increased to 4 if the countries that earned team spots in the last qualifier had already won individual positions in previous qualifiers. No country can earn more than one individual position for any category including the results of all qualifiers, except for the spot earned in the Cali 2021 Junior Pan American Games, which is additional.

- Recurve women (8 spots)
 - 6 spots for the top two teams in a match play round involving only the countries that did not earn team spots at the Pan American Championships.
 - 2 individual spots for the top ranked archers in a special match play round involving up to three archers from the countries that did not earn a team or individual spot at the previous qualifiers. The number of individual spots to be allocated can be increased to 4 if the countries that earned team spots in the last qualifier had already won individual positions in previous qualifiers. No country can earn more than one individual position for any category including the results of all qualifiers, except for the spot earned in the Cali 2021 Junior Pan American Games, which is additional.

- Compound Men (1 spot)

Confirmation of quota places

WA will confirm to Panam Sports and to the NOCs the places they have qualified by July 10th, 2023.

The NOCs will confirm to Panam Sports and to WA the places they will use by July 14th, 2023.

Reallocation of unused quota places

If necessary, WA will reallocate unused quota places to the next NOC whose athletes have been ranked on an alternate list after the second qualifying tournament. This process must be finalized by July 17th, 2023.

The NOCs that receive reallocated quotas must confirm their participation no later than on July 19th, 2023.

Qualification for the Paris 2024 Olympic Games

In Archery, the best positioned NOCs in the Women's and Men's Recurve Individual and Mixed Team events will qualify directly for the Paris 2024 Olympic Games.
